Letter of Recommendation:

Construction of Zuellig Pharma GMP Certified facility at Changi North Way

From inception through to finalization the total project took more than two years, but the final result and ultimate benefits for Zuellig Pharma are well worth the effort. Since moving into the new facility we have realized our intentions to substantially raise the standard of quality and efficiency in our operations and this has been commented on by all of our clients who have audited or visited us here.

The project was not an easy one as the construction period fell during one of the most difficult and challenging times within the construction industry in recent years. The building sector experienced a veritable boom period, what with rising property prices and the commencement of the integrated resorts. This put tremendous pressure on prices and availability of equipment and resources. Political disputes with Indonesia meant shortages in sand and granite and 2007 experienced the heaviest rainfall of the decade.

Despite all this adversity, Jian Huang continued with the project to its completion maintaining standards of quality and an impeccable health and safety record. Although Jian Huang was contracted by the developer and not Zuellig Pharma directly, they were a flexible and loyal partner and accommodated our design changes wherever possible. Throughout the project we maintained constant communication and interaction, always being updated of latest developments.

Jian Huang also appointed many true specialist providers in the areas of GMP, Flat Floors, Cold Room construction, M & E, etc, and this collaboration of knowledge and expertise delivered a best in class facility with many features far exceeding our expectations.

We believe that Jian Huang has gained invaluable experience of building a GMP compliant facility and will only improve further in future projects. We have no reservations in recommending Jian Huang to potential clients for similar developments and trust they will do everything possible to meet their client's expectations.

We thank Jian Huang for their commitment and perseverance to see the project through to a successful completion.

Yours faithfully
